

FBB Capital Partners Ranks among Financial Times Top 300 Registered Investment Advisers for Fourth Year in a Row

Bethesda, MD—(June 23, 2017)—FBB Capital Partners, a fee-only wealth management firm in the greater Washington D.C. region, has been named to the Financial Times 300 (FT300) Top Registered Investment Advisers (RIA) list for the fourth year in a row. The firm attributes its success to loyal clients and continued dedication to service, internal talent, and growth.

Since it was founded in 1989 as one of the first fee-only wealth management firms in Maryland, FBB Capital has grown to be one of the largest independent fee-only firms in the Greater Washington D.C. area. Today, the firm manages the assets of individuals and non-profits in excess of $1 billion dollars.

“We are honored by this recognition from the Financial Times, which highlights our success in working closely with our clients to maintain a high standard of service, as well as our commitment to FBB’s continued growth,” said founder Susan Fulton.

The Financial Times ranking is based on a variety of attributes affluent investors find valuable such as years in existence, staff industry certifications, and assets under management ($300 million or more), compliance record, and online accessibility.

FT 300 Disclosure:

The Financial Times 300 Top Registered Investment Advisers is an independent listing produced annually by the Financial Times (June, 2017). The FT 300 is based on data gathered from RIA firms, regulatory disclosures, and the FT’s research. The listing reflected each practice’s performance in six primary areas: assets under management, asset growth, compliance record, years in existence, credentials and online accessibility. This award does not evaluate the quality of services provided to clients and is not indicative of the practice’s future performance. Neither the RIA firms nor their employees pay a fee to The Financial Times in exchange for inclusion in the FT 300.
